Exchange Messenger™

A messenger-style camera bag that's modern and discreet with an appealing price point for today's style-minded DSLR user

Combine a classic bike courier profile with Lowepro's protective and practical design sense and you get the Exchange Messenger™ — a well-priced DSLR shoulder bag that offers soft-sided protection with modern appeal.

Criss-crossing panels add a subtle detail to the front flap. An integrated, adjustable shoulder strap lets you wear the bag two ways: over the shoulder or across the body, messenger-style. The two-buckle closure provides fast access to contents and security when you're on the move.

Three deep pockets (one with a zipper) store accessories, a wallet, mobile phone or other essentials. The roomy main compartment is lined in contrasting fabric to easily distinguish your gear. There's plenty of room inside for today's most popular DSLR models (placed horizontally), plus an extra lens or flash, in addition to personal gear. The two padded, adjustable dividers let you customise the interior to create the perfect fit for your camera kit and extras.

The Exchange Messenger is available in Black, Gray and Sea Blue.
